FLOAT NO. 8—NOUREDDIM AND THE PAIR PERSIAN.
Under a beautiful pagoda, crescent-topped and silver-pillared, by the flowery banks of the Tigris, the handsome Noureddin and his fair Persian wife are resting from their wanderings. They have had hard luck, and Haroun Alrasohid, hearing of this, comes to them in the disguise of a fisherman, preparatory to making both happy by restoring them to wealth and pleasure. The summer-house some nowers across the front will conceal from view the erchestra which is to furnish the music for dancing. At either end of the platform will be a beautiful pyramid of foliage and flowers, while huge palms and other tropical plants will tower above the orchestra in the rear. Above the rostrum will be suspended a circle of fire, with the letters V. P. within it.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

London, October 3.—The electoral campaign has now fairly begun. Every day a dozen important political specches are made. The new register has caused the greatest confusion everywhere. For many seats there are two or three Liberal candidates, each refusing to retire in favor of the other. This has arisen from many unscrupulous and ambitious politicians seizing the opportunity furnished by the enthusiasm for the reform of the new electorate to put themselves forward. In a number of cases, unless the chiefs of the party intervene with all their authority, the Radical and Liberal candidates brought forward by the reform bill are an admirable set of mea, quite and admirable set of mea, quite different from those of former elections. They are mostly younger and more advanced thinkers with definite opinions, eager to accomplish something in Parliament. They will be better speakers and less likely to adhere to party lines through thock and thin. Among them are some strange figures. The Marquis of Lorne is the Liberal candidate for the metropolitan division. Helen Taylor. John Staurt Mills' daughter-in-law, represents the Land National Mills' daugh the inher life of the I'm partners who formed it, the personal characteristics of the who formed it, the personal characteristics of the who formed it, which is estirely separate from the Pail Mail Gazette's, opened with two telegrams, the first saying: "I'will meet all the expenses of placarding England with a manifesto of the subject." As soon as this was received £1,000 worth of printing was ordered. The second said: "I will subscribe £0,000, if necessary, to the Tresurer's Tund." These are signed by Alexander Maarthur and Prof. Stuart, both members of Parliament.

The discovery that cast-iron can be made malleable and tenacious by the withdrawal of the carbon, was pable of obtaining these results. People have depanded, in the way of a cooking apparatus, something heavier, stronger, more durable, more economical in the use of fuel; easier of management and quicker in operation than the ordinary cast-iron gook stove. TO SOME FACTS THAT MAY BE OF ADVANTAGE TO

There can be no finer, more elegantly trimmed and perfect-fitting Suits and Overcoats than we are receiving from our factories this fall. There is a style and elegance about our Clothing that can be obtained only by manufacturing your own goods expressly for retail trade. Our low-priced goods are made up with the same care. We are selling Fall Suits and Overcoats at $10 that are equal to $15 garments at houses that depend upon jobbers for their Clothing, and our $25 and $30 Corkscrewand Plaid Suits can not be excelled by the best merchant Tailors, who get $40 to $60 for the same goods. Everything Quiet in Street-Car Circles
To-Day.

The Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor met last night and initiated 107 new members and this morning five more. They now have in the order nearly every street car employe in the city. The Executive Committee visited a number of street car presidents and officials but it was found that in every case they were out of town. They starred out again this morning and did not return until after 4 o'clock. The general feeling among the men seems to be, that even if a strike became necessary, it would be an ill-advised step to make a move during Fair Week and thereby lose the sympathy of the public.

CUTIOURA REMEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of Salt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. General Garland had nothing to do with the bringing of the suit in the name of the United States for the revocation of the Bell Telephone patent—that the acting Attorney-General did it white Mr. Garland was absent. He tells us also that the suit was brought on the petition of citizens, not at the instance of telephone companies, the expense attending it having been provided for by subscription. He tells us further that the Pan-Electric Telephone Company, in which Attorney-General Garland is a stockholder, has no interest in the National Improved Telephone Company in whose interest the suit is brought, and that if Mr. Garland had been a stockholder in the latter, he certainly should not have allowed his personal relations to any company to prevent his performing his duty to the public. But. out regret that before this suit was brought the Attorney-General was loaded up with a sort of telephone stock likely to be greatly increased in value by the action of his department. MR. GLOVER's interview in yesterday's Post-Disparch does not indicate that he is as utterly "worn out by the scramble of office-seekers" as he has been represented. On the contrary, there is about him the fresh and breezy aggressiveness of the beginning of the first round.

If St. Louis the police yesterday raided a half a dozen poor devils of gamblers, but in New York such gamblers as Heath, Smith, Southers, at al. gamble for millions, and the New York such gamblers as HEATH, SMITH, SOUTH, at all, gamble for millions, and the colly penalty they incur is when they fall into the clutches of the bigger gamblers, GOULD and VARDEBBLY.

cess of a rival telephone company.

The first victory of St. Louis against freight discrimination is to be won in Chicago on the Sth inst. Much depends on the action of that meeting. If the car-load rate is placed on a fair basis and if the mileage basis is adjusted fairly, we may soon expect to see the bridge arbitrary disappear. When it has been established that St. Louis is determined to make her rights respected it will be much easier to break down the unjust discriminations which are the real ground of our complaints and the abolition of which is the ultimate object of our efforts.

The Glover interview on the Postmastership guin that important question before the business men of St. Louis in its right light. The Post Office is a great business establishment, conducted for the benefit of all the people, but of special importance to the business interview. has identified itself with the success of the varied amusements, entertainments, processions, pageants and illuminations which make up the programme of Fair Week. The scope and range of this programme embrace every valuable interest of the city, and every citizen would resent any wanton interference with it as a personal wrong.

We believe there are no grievances which cannot wait a week for settlement. Even if the demand were more urgent than it is, there could be no deeper injury inflicted on those who claim to be aggrieved than the injury they would inflict on themselves if they defied that unanimous sentiment which demands that world is so wholly deprived of the suburban over flow which adds so much to the city itself.

Tara proper thing to do under such circumstances is to make St. Louis as astragities as possible. If the city must live for itself, and if, its people must all live out their lives within its limits, the natural recourse is to adorn and beautify the city, to make its life elegant and elevating, to introduce the influences of sweetness and light. Much has been done, at least in the line of ammenments, and the strenger in St. Louis who is properly "cideroned" finds much to delight him. But with the streets as they are, St. Louis has a great deal to do before it can pretend to comply with the requirements of its position.

While the Fair and the Exposition are attracting the visitors to the city, filling the hotels, stirring up local trade and defying hard times, they are threatening ruin to an institution not less valuable than themselves. What is to become of the drama in St. Louis? We cannot have the drama without theaters, and we cannot have theaters unless they pay, and we cannot get people to go to the theater under existing conditions. The existing conditions are bad for the drama, the outlook worse.

are bad for the drams, the outlook worse.

What is the situation? The receipts of the Exposition will come up to $100,000; those of the Fair to $80,000, representing, in round numbers, 600,000 admission tickets; in dollars and cents one hundred and eighty weeks of theater season, at $1,000 a week. It is not necessary to count the money spent on the Velled Prophets, and on the Trades Pageant, and on the illumination, although all this come out of the pockets of people on whom the drama depends. With this money subtracted from the appropriation for the drama, there is little left.

THE TIMES.

The Times says: "The special givil service rule made by the President and announced in our columns this morning, was made on the recommendation of the Civil Service Commissioners. It simply clears the eligible list for the customs and poetal services on November 1 of all names that shall then have been on the register for one year. They would otherwise have remained on the register until next July. The change was made necessary by the large number of names on the registers. It makes no difference with the chances of appointment of those hereafter examined, as, in any case, names are presented for appointment in the order of their standing on examination and without reference to the date of examination. As a marter of fact, the persons whose names will be removed November 1 would have had little hope of appointment, being the residuum from a pretty thorough sifting already made."

PRILADRIZA P.A., Cotober 2.—David G. Whitworth, a wealthy miller of Areola, in the suburbs of Philadelphia has a presty daughter, Mary, sixteen years old, and until Thursday had a clerk named George Uliman. On Wednesday, the day before the new marriage license law went into effect, George and Mary got married. George was not absent from his desk more than two hours, and after she was made a wife by the old Mannonite preacher of Areola, Mary went to Ursimus College where she is completing her education, and recited her lessons as usual. The lovers did not meet again until night, whan they announced their union. Old Mr. Waltworth promptly discharged his cierk and accused him of abducting Mary for the fortune abe is reported to possess. Mary went weeping to bed on her wedding night and Uliman went away, naying to his father-in-law: 'You san be as hard on me as you like, but I ware you not to be harsh to my wife.' Mr. Waltworth applied to a lawyer to-day to obtain a divorce. The only difficulty in the way is that the young wife declares that she will not listen to a saymation and wants to go to ber husband.

His assault upon Mr. J. Ambler Smith was the general topic of discussion in the hotel lobbies. The probabilities of a duel were discussed, but it was generally agreed that the prospect was one for peace. Nobody in this city proposed to speak the sentiments of Mr. Wise in the matter. Those who were not interested, except as would-be speak the sentiments of Mr. Wise in the matter. Those who were not interested, except as would-be speak the sentiments of Mr. Wise in the matter. Those who were not interested, except as would-be speaked to the opinion that the honor of "Old Virginy" was at stake, and there ought to be a duel. As for the police, they laughed at the idea of a fight, "We have not been notified to attend," said an officer at police headquarters," and I guess the duelists know better that to run the risk, "Mr. Wise saddressed a meating of Republicans yesterday afternoon at Fairfax Court House, but made no aliusion to the difficulty which occurred at Alexandria on the preceding night, The scathing denunciation of the Democracy made during his speech elicited remarks of disapproval from some Democrats. Mr. Wise paid no attention to them. Finally a gentleman arcse, and interrupting Mr. Wise told him that some of his remarks were becoming too personal. Mr. Wise atopped for a moment and then said: "If I have said anything which I ought to be sorry for I am glad of it." The feature of the meeting was the attendance of colored political clubs, of which there are quite a number in Fairfax County. They came in wagon loads, each club accompanied by a brass drum. The officers all wore uniform of remarkable and varied design, one captain was represented in a bright red helmet surmounted by a blue plume, gold epailettes, a red beit, and wearing a sword. The other officers were equally brilliant.

"About four months ago an old-time friend called on me whom I had not met fur years, and he told." on me whom I had not met for years, and he told on me whom I had not met for years, and he told me of his long siege of sickness and his almost miraculous cure by Dr. McCoy, and I was so im-pressed with what he told me that I decided to make a final trial, and if it failed, I would

RESIGN MYSELF TO MY PATE.

I cailed on Dr. McCoy and he said that he thought he could cure my ailment. I almost doubted him, for I had suffered so much.

"Well, sir, I commenced treatment, as I said, about four months ago, and I can hardly realize now that I am the same unfortunate man who suffered terribly before that time.

WITH A LIGHT HEART, for now I am able to support my family in ease, and suffer no more. I would like to tell all the sick people in the world of Dr. McCoy's power to cure them, and I know they would gladly try him if they experienced one-half the blessings I have. You can say anything that is good about Dr. McCoy in the paper, for me."
